A Feast of Poetry & Song

A Feast of Poetry is an annual poetry writing festival centred around a writing competition which began in 2004. The festival is held in the beautiful gardens of the historic Raglan Gallery and Cultural Centre Inc in Lambie St Cooma, NSW.

In 2012 the festival expanded to include a song writing competition.

Conditions of Entry for Poems & Songs

Entries close on 10th September 2013

Entry fees for both poems and songs: Adults $5 per poem, school age children $2 per poem or stamps
On the Spot Poem and Open Microphone - free.
Primary & Secondary Bush Poetry (to be read and judged on the day) - free

- All poems and songs must be original and unpublished.
- 2 copies of each poem/ lyrics must be submitted for the entry to be valid.
- Parents must sign entry forms if students are under 16 years old.
- Bush poetry is to be rhyming bush verse with an Australian theme. Each poem must have good rhyme and a regular metre.
- Works must be printed or typed on one side only of A4 plain paper with no artwork or decoration.
- Pages must be numbered and titled if the poem /song is longer than one page.
- Write your name on the entry form only and attach entry form to your work/s.
- Poems & songs will not be returned, and only finalists will be notified.
- Finalists will be invited to read their own poem and/or perform their song (or allow it to be read or performed) at A Feast of Poetry Day, 2nd November 2013.
- Songs will be judged mainly on strength of the song lyric.
- The judges' decision is final.
- Selection of poems / lyrics for publication is at the discretion of the committee. The poems may be published in the annual anthology, selected writers' magazines and local papers.
